

World Otter Day 2019

Why are otters so important? Otters are special animals - not only are they wonderful to watch but they are great indicators to a healthy environment, which is important for all species, including our own.

12 of the 13 species worldwide are declining because of hunting for the illegal fur trade, habitat destruction, reduction in available prey, and road deaths.

We need your help to raise awareness, encourage as many people as possible to be involved, and...

Get Otters Noticed!
